Polygraph Training

The University of Houston-Downtown Polygraph Program's staff of highly qualified instructors has designed an in-depth curriculum that provides an excellent foundation in polygraph for both law enforcement and commercial examiners.

- The only approved basic polygraph program in Texas
- Approved by numerous agencies including the Texas State Board of Polygraph Examiners and the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officers Standards and Education
- Approved for veterans' benefits
- Accredited by the American Polygraph Association
- Part of the largest criminal justice center in the state

Classes beginning in February 1991 will be the last time the Criminal Justice Center's polygraph training will be offered at its current tuition rate.
Register now before tuition increases take effect!

AZMAT: First Responder Awareness
This course is designed for personnel in the following areas: fire service, law enforcement, rescue and ambulance, private sector response, and state and federal government response.
The program focuses on the analysis and planning duties and the associated tasks and necessary steps that a responder will be expected to perform when reacting to an emergency involving hazardous materials. The course will also describe how the task is performed, and then require the participants to simulate performance on the task during a tabletop exercise.
This program will focus on what hazardous materials are, and the risks associated with them in an incident; potential outcomes associated with an emergency; the presence of hazardous materials in an emergency; the role of the first responder; and site security and control.
